The background of the entire image is a vibrant blue sky with soft, wispy white clouds. In the upper right corner, a large flock of small white birds is in flight, scattered across the sky. In the lower left foreground, two white doves are perched on a green, grassy hill. They are facing each other, with their heads slightly tilted towards one another, as if in conversation. The doves have pure white feathers and bright orange beaks. The overall scene is peaceful and romantic, fitting the theme of the text.
